CDC Pink Book Training: Epidemiology and Prevention of Vaccine-Preventable Diseases

Austin, Texas

Faculty from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s (CDC) National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases will present a live, two-day comprehensive review of immunization principles, as well as vaccine-preventable diseases and the recommended vaccines to prevent them. The course will cover the most up-to-date immunization information from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) presented by faculty from CDC’s National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases.

The course is designed for anyone seeking the most comprehensive and current knowledge of immunization, including physicians, nurses, medical assistants, pharmacists, immunization providers, program managers, and nursing and medical students. Participants will need to have a basic understanding of biology and immunization. Continuing education credits (approximately 14 contact hours) will be available at course completion through the CDC (CME, CNE, CECH, CEU, CPE).
